Miss Lillian Lewis, of the "Only a Farmer's Daughter" Company, is said to have been a horse-jockey when only fifteen years of age, and was known throughout Kentucky as the "Queen of the Blue Grass country." She was not a dudine, but simply an expert in horse-womanship. The lady is a remarkably good judge of horse flesh and a magnificent rider still. Not when the horse is still, but whether in a hurdle race or a plain plank-road jolt she displays such daring, skill and grace as to cause other actresses who do not know the difference between a clothes-horse and a canal boat mule, to be envious of her. She now owns "Badger Girl," one of Wisconsin's famous racing mares. This story was told by the advance agert of the company.

Secure a Quorum—The Public Disgusted at the Trifling of the Authorities One of Capt. Smith's Thin Excuses. treated by that body Tuesday night excited indignation and disgust among the better citizens of Wheeling, regardless of party, and they were not slow to express hese feelings yesterday morning. Mayor Grubb yesterday morning in gether the members of the Committee on ider the communication referred to that body. Presumably Capt, Smith caused body. Presumably Capt. Smith caused notices to be served on all the members, but at the time appointed the only member who had shown up was Mr. Gilleland, of the Eighth ward, the only Republican Councilman on the committee. Some time after Mr. Kenney arrived, and about ten minutes past eight o'clock Mr. Farrell sauntered in. None of the other members were present. It takes four to make a quorum of the committee, and it is a signorum of the committee, and it is a sig-ificant fact that there were just enough absentees to make it impossible to do any usiness.

The members who were present are enerally regarded as the fairest and most conscientious gentlemen in the committee. Messrs. Gavin, Harrell and Smith reach the absorbers.

tee. Messra. Gavin, Harrell and Smith were the absentees.

The view of those present seemed to be that the communication of the Mayor should be sent back to Council with the opinion that it was not properly a subject for this Committee to consider. Different portions of it should by rights be referred to the Committees on Police, Finance and Ordinances.

Mayor Grubb says he will again direct the Sergeant to call a meeting of the Committee at an early day, and while he dislikes to do so, will continue this policy until a quorum is secured and some action taken. It may be mentioned in this connection that the City Sergeant receives a fee of $1 for each call issued for a commitmittee meeting.

The trifling of Council and the Committee provoked much unfavorable comment last night.

A VERY THIN EXCUSE. one of the Pleas Set Up for Smith by the The Register has repeatedly said on behalf of Porter Smith, and doubtless by his authority, that he is disposed to do his duty, but that the city ordinances are inadequate to cope with the gambling evil. The ordinances on this subject are suffi-cient and admirably adapted to the supcient and admirably adapted to the suppression of gaining houses. They were possibly weak until the passage of an ordinance in 1882, at the suggestion of the then Chief of Police, Capt. Bennett, for the purpose of enlarging the powers of the police, and facilitating the arrest and conviction of gamblers and frequenters of gambling resorts.

This ordinance, passed March 29, 1881, amends Section 43 of the ordinance against offenses, so as to read as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to be found loitering about ordinancies or coffee houses, or wandering about the streets by night or day, and not having either a known place of residence or means of livelibood, and not able to give any satisfactory account of themselves. And it shall further be unlawful for any person or persons to be found selvès. And it shall further be unlawful for any person or persons to be found loafing or loitering in the streets or alleys or on the sidewalks, or in any vacant lot or board yard in the city, or to be found in any gambling house or room, or in any house or room so reputed shows in defence that the house or room is not a gambling house or room, but is used entirely for other purposes, he shall be acquitted."

When this ordinance was under consideration in the Second Branch of Council its most active opponent was Porter Smith, its most active opponent was Porter Smith, then a member of that body. He is re-corded in the minutes of the meeting at which it was passed as having voted with the minority against its passage. There were and are those who think they see a notive in his course even then.

The Gamblers.

Games were in progress last night in a room on Water street kept by a well-known colored man, in at least two Mar-ket street rooms and in one room on Main ket street rooms and in one room on Main street. Business was less lively, however, thun the night before, if the INTELL-GENCER'S informants are to be relied upon, and they usually hug the truth very closely. A sort of uneasy feeling prevailed, lest Porter Smith should wake out of his lethargy and discharge the duties he swore to perform some two months ago, but which so far he has persistently ignored.

Now, Porter Smith, show your hand, and give the city the cleanest criminal record she has had for years.

The rest of the story is better told in her of words to a Times reporter yesterday afternoon.

"When I first brought suit," said Mrs. Laniman, "here in Pittsburgh, I engaged one of the most prominent attorneys at the Pittsburgh bar, who agreed to conduct the case for 10 percent of the damage, recovered. When the case was transferred to Brooke county, West Virginia, where my claim of $3,400 was paid, this Pittsburgh gentleman engaged a lawyer down there to conduct the case and he pocketed just $1,000 as a fee. The balance was divided under the intestate laws of that State between myself and three children, my share being $721 lb. This sum was paid to the administrator, who afterwards turned it over to the attorney I had here on his demand, he given in a receipt in my name.

I demanded my share, when he very colly told me he would keep the whole amount as his fee. I consulted a number of lawyers, but no one would undertake my case, as they did not wish to snage in the present of one of the 600 lawyers here I could not get one to undertake my case. I was finally told to appeal to that model if ribunal of honesty and justice, the Alleigheny County Har Association. I was told that there I would get justice. anything about it, whatever may be my reputation for extensive knowledge. A friend of mine has intimated that she considers me a perfect dictionary of information, but I am sorry to say she has only gained this impression by seeing me on roller skates, and noticing my graceful swaying form round the curves of a rink. My odalisque beauty, I know, attracts universal attention, so much so that I have lately been compelled to carry a handkerchief satchel with a plnk hollyhock painted on the exposed side, so that people may net know who I am. I prelet his to getting a permit to carry a revolver. On the reverse of my satchel I have had engraved in letters of burnished brass, "Ah, There". This is a very happy conceit. I would never have mentioned this only the public wants to know everything about me, and as there is nothing thing about me, and as there is nothing mean in my composition I give it away for what it is worth.

About society? Oh, yes. Well I hear that Tillie Tightlace has a new beau who is just too lovely. Now, boys, what do you think of that? Isn't it just too awful? They say his father left kim very poor and to-day he is poorer than ever with brighter prospects ahead. My friend Esor Der may object to such plain talk, but as we are both petals of the fairest flowers that bloom near gravyard headstones she will, no doubt, see that a girly feeling makes no doubt, see that a girly feeling makes us wondrous unkind

The many friends of Spring Zephyr will regret to learn that he intends locating in the West soon. He is very popular in society, and has blown the bloom off the checks of many of Wheeling's fairest daughters—as it were. The last expression is used in a South Wheeling sense, and any frail man in that part of the city, who is dying of consumption and wantsatisfaction it will be cheerfully given—with a club. But about Zephyr. Wegirls will miss him. He has played many pranks on us, but we, with generous hearts, forgive him. I understand that he goes to take a responsible position in the house of Cyclone & Co. It is said that he will carry with him in his new field of turmoil the ehearts of many of our young ladies. As this organ is not of much importance to the general welfare of the ladies in question it is believed they will not be seriously inconvenienced by the theft.

An enemy of mine sometime ago asked me to write her epitaph, and as I succeeded so well ahe has requested me to write something about skating rinks, and as there is very little in the newspapers about them I cheerfully comply. I give the symptoms of roller rinking as follows: Do you feel tired when you rise in the morning; have you a buzzing in the ear as if an Island girl was talking to you, and a heaviness on your right arm; do you as if an Island girl was talking to you, and a heaviness on your right arm; do you kick the covers off at midnight and turn the gas on full and knock over a chair and gently pick it up and say "allow me, miss." If you do all these things it is an unmistakable sign that sometime in your sweet and innocent life you have visited a rink and helped a young lady to walk around the circuit.

Talking about eyes, I see my alter ego, Esor Der, has climbed a stepladder and looked into the languishing, liquid depths of the optics of some of our society gentlemen. As her scrutiny overlooked several I hasten to relieve the impression she left that Wheeling was in the vicinity of Paradise. Now there is Tommy Toughi, why didn't she mention him? He has the most bewitching pair of black eyes woman ever looked upon, and he got 'em honestly, too, at a recent sparring match. And there is Billy Spine, as erect as a telegraph pole. He has the most lovely maroon windows of the soul one would want to gaze on in a lifetime. How he got them no one knows, but it is whispered the back gate, which was alar one night, had something to do with the subdued tints that predominate. Jim Jovial squints at you with a sunflower "glint" that as at you with a sunflower "glist" that as much as says, "I am so ry I am so seedy There are other eyes, but they are in the Blind Asylum.

I could my a great deal more, but time and impatience wait for no one. I would not have written this but for the dying request of several of my friends. They will never see what I have penned. They are now happy in their coffins, and many who have read this through will, no doubt, wish they were as well off. I have said enough. If any one can open this Pandora box he may have it,

I have never written for the press, but as the majority of the people of this city have a consuming curiosity to know who I am, I take this opportunity of unburdening myself by declaring that I don't know myself. I like mystery, in fact I may say that I am inordinately fond of it—ple for instance; the common everyday, restaurant concealed joy of commerce. I started this joke as I began life—quite young, but age cannot wither nor custom stale the infinite variety of the crust nor banish from my mind the mystery of the mixture. Several of my friends with the best of intentions have warned me not to write for the press, but not seeing any other visible route to fame I have determined to take a trip on the train, for which I have been kindly furnished a free in this agency by Mr. J. Travelers in passing through the finterior counties have passed the time away by counting the dead cattle along theroads, and in at least one authentic instance, thirty head of cattle were seen starved to death in a ride of forty-five miles. In some sections of the stricken districts the people have subsisted on beans and a kind of gruel made by grinding up wheat in coffee mills and such other means as were at hand, and boiling it. This is the case among hundreds of people; of course

The Alleged "Greatest American Play" Once More. At the Opera House last night was given "Elliott Barnes' Greatest American Play, Only a Farmer's Daughter" (Rats!) I any body likes this kind of a play this is about the kind of a play he would like. Why "American," and why "Only a Farmer's Daughter" is never revealed. The uniformed convict racket is flat and unprofitable. The interest is made to center in a bad woman and a bad man.

Who sues to Recover Money Retained by a Lawyer.

On Tuesday, says yesterday's Pittsburgh Timer, Mrs. Mary Laufman filed a petition before one of the judges of the court, asking that he intercede in her behalf to recover her share of the damages awarded her by the Circuit Court of Brooke county, West Virginia. The money is now in the hands of a Pittsburgh lawyer.

Mrs. Laufman's case dates back to 1879, when she, as widow of William Patton, brought suit against the P., C. & St. L. Railway Company to recover damages for the killing of her husband by negligence of that company. The jury gave her a verdict for $\frac{3}{2},000, which was reversed by the Supreme Court. The case was transformed in Brooke county.
